There were 6,940 public housing dwellings tenanted that had become vacant during the period 1 January 2017 to 31 March 2018. The average time taken from being vacant to tenanted for these dwellings was 31.4 days.

As at 31 March 2018 there were 801 vacant public housing dwellings (refer table below), excluding dwellings scheduled for sale, demolition or redevelopment. Three townships with the highest average vacancy period were Woree, Julia Creek and Richmond with nine vacant dwellings, followed by townships highlighted green in the table below with 43 vacant dwellings across these townships, as at 31 March 2018. It must be noted that these areas were in regional Queensland where there is limited demand.

Public housing dwellings¹ vacant as at 31 March 2018, Queensland: Excludes dwellings scheduled for sale, demolition or redevelopment
