Have your say on the new draft transport noise corridors for state-controlled roads and railways

Purpose

The Department of Transport and Main Roads (TMR) has released a draft transport noise corridors (TNCs) for state-controlled roads and railways for consultation with local government and the building and construction industry.

Draft transport noise corridor modelling

TMR has recently developed draft TNC modelling to better predict the extent of land and residential properties impacted by noise from state-controlled roads and railways in Queensland. The TNCs support implementation of the Queensland Development Code Mandatory Part 4.4 (QDC MP 4.4).

The new draft TNCs now take into account additional factors known to influence the extent of noise impacts such as terrain and buildings. This means the new TNCs more accurately represent noise impacts on residential properties adjacent to state-controlled roads and railways.

To review the new draft TNC, please email the TMR GIS team on ppb_gis@tmr.qld.gov.au.

Have your say

We encourage you to review the new draft TNC by sending your written submissions by email or post to:

- Draft TNC feedback (as email subject line) to planningpolicy@tmr.qld.gov.au
- Planning Policy Team
