National Construction Code—information seminars

Purpose

To advise building and plumbing practitioners of the National Construction Code (NCC) information seminars scheduled for March 2011 in Brisbane.

Background

In 2011, the Australian Building Codes Board will launch the National Construction Code (NCC), when it publishes the Plumbing Code of Australia (PCA) as Volume Three of the newly consolidated NCC.

The aim of the seminars is to raise awareness among building and plumbing practitioners of the NCC as well as other code amendments scheduled for 2011. The seminars will also be an opportunity for practitioners to hear about relevant aspects of the consolidated code and how it will affect their work.
